

MOSAIC

IES DEPARTMENT, DUBAI SCHOLARS PVT. SCHOOL

Message from Head of Inclusion:

I believe in fostering a culture of inclusive education, in order to provide equitable opportunities to all students to become successful learners, in a common learning environment.

- Aashiya Jassim

Head of School speaks...

At Dubai scholars, inclusion means creating the conditions required in order to have every member of the community reach his or her full learning potential. I congratulate our Inclusion team on its inaugural edition of Mosaic. As the name suggests, this magazine is a collection of small works of inspiration, creating a beautiful display of student products. Looking forward to many more editions.

NEW KHDA REQUIREMENTS PART OF A CITYWIDE GOAL TO MAKE DUBAI DISABILITY-FRIENDLY BY 2020

GUIDE TO MAKE DUBAI SCHOOLS 100% INCLUSIVE

A new set of guidelines for all Dubai Schools has been released by the Knowledge and Human Development Authority (KHDA). This guideline will help schools become fully inclusive, ensuring that students of determination are admitted; and all forms of discrimination are eliminated.

No Limits 2019

'Flavour of Friendship'

Kindness and acceptance of people are the most powerful things we can teach our children.

We kicked off our annual awareness campaign, No Limits, with the 'Flavour of Friendship' on the 12th of February, 2019.

Our students of Years 1 and 2 came dressed in their pink, yellow or green outfits, made new friends. They took the time, with their teachers, to understand that friendships are an important part of 'Social Inclusion'. They took pride in writing their new friends' names on the Flavours take-away card and preparing a little card for them. At the end of the day, the students had a message to take home and another friend to add to their ever-growing list of friends at school!

'Lots of Socks'

World Down Syndrome Day (WDSD) is observed to raise awareness and well being of people with Down Syndrome

Foundation Stage at Dubai Scholars played its part in creating awareness about Down Syndrome by observing Thursday, the 21st of March, as 'Lots of Socks Day'.

How to teach Sight Words

- ✚ Read the word (with help if needed). was
- ✚ While tapping under each letter, say the letter name and then say the whole word while underlining it. (2x)

- ✚ While tracing each letter with the back of a pencil, say each letter then say the whole word while underlining it. (2x)

- ✚ While tracing the letters on table with two fingers, say each letter and then say the whole word while underlining it. (2x)

- ✚ While tapping each letter going down the left arm or up the right arm, say each letter and then the whole word sweeping hand down the left arm or up the right arm. (2x)

- ✚ Write the word in your notebook.

The IES Team is pleased to celebrate Ethan Dsouza's achievements

Ethan Teo Antony D'souza, of Year 7A, is an unassuming, hardworking student, who apparently believes in letting his achievements speak for him. He is a fine young man of many talents. He was awarded the 1st Place at the Innovation Fair, during the Science Week for his prototype on Renewable Energy. He has made us all extremely proud. Ethan's success story doesn't stop here....he is a budding chef and also a Fischertechnik & hockey enthusiast. He is a part of the school hockey team. We are proud to be called his teachers. Our team wishes Ethan the very best in all his future endeavours.

PANIC

-Shuaa Swaleh Sadiq 7A

Run, shout, put of an alarm,
scream, pout, go hide in a barn

Mother's cry and widows weep,
for without their love they cannot sleep.

They come to destroy,
with an evil ploy

Children search ceaselessly,
for parents they will never see.

Not a blade of grass,
will be left without blast.

Trees will sob, the earth will cry,
for with no life, the land will dry.

Fire so big,
they'll cook up a pig.

They'll rip and tear,
and spread despair

They'll rip and tear,
and spread despair.

Panic and run for lives at stake,
flee or die there's no mistake.

Panic and run for lives at stake,
flee or die there's no mistake.

So why do this when we can share,
the love we have and show we care?
